STOPS PAIN

Athens, Tenn., Jan. 27, 1901.
Ever since the first appearance of my menses they were very irregular and I suffered with great pain in my hips, back, stomach and legs, with terrible bearing down pains in the abdomen. During the past month I have been taking Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, and I passed the monthly period without pain for the first time in years. NANNIE DAVIS.

What is life worth to a woman suffering like Nannie Davis suffered? Yet there are women in thousands of homes to-day who are bearing those terrible menstrual pains in silence. If you are one of these we want to say that this same will bring your permanent relief. Console yourself with the knowledge that 1,000,000 women have been completely cured by Wine of Cardui. These women suffered from leucorrhoea, irregular menses, headache, backache, and bearing down pains. Wine of Cardui will stop all these aches and pains for you. Purchase a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui to-day and take it in the privacy of your home.

CLOTHES OF MEN AND WOMEN

Sterner Sex the Best Judge of Feminine Attire.

It is often said that women dress to please each other, but men dress to please themselves. On this point a writer in the Lady's Pictorial says:

"Now and then one sees a woman whose clothes are absolutely characteristic of her and bear the impress of having been carefully thought out by their wearer. These are those who never wear garments fashioned like others, but the majority of women do not desire nor, indeed, would it become them to be individualistic in their attire. They like to be 'in the fashion.' And the question is, Are they or are men best suited to making what is understood by la mode?

"On the whole, one inclines to the opinion that men are really the best judges of what best suits the female form divine, and, on the other hand, it would seem as if woman's taste in men's clothing is far more reliable than man's. She is quick to detect a mistake in the choice of a tie, to note the angle of a hat, the set of a coat, the pattern of a tweed, the shape of a collar, and she never falls into the error of urging her men folk to adopt any atrocious things merely because they are described as 'very fashionable.'

"The man whom a woman considers well dressed is well fitted, absolutely well groomed and quite unobtrusive alike in the matter of hats, waistcoats, ties or patterns, and this looks as if each sex were meant to select the other's clothes. Women are ready enough to admit men's good taste and cleverness in this direction, but the other sex disclaims with horror the ability of their womankind to exercise any judgment with regard to their wardrobes, despite the fact that an unfavorable feminine opinion of anything they are wearing means its instant disuse. Perhaps if men and women alike more freely expressed themselves in fashion journals from time to time about each other's clothes it would be better for both."

A Venomous Bird.

But one species of venomous bird is known to the student of ornithological oddities, the rpir n'doob, or "bird of death," a feathered paradox of New Guinea. It is not a large or formidable looking creature, as one would naturally expect, being scarcely as large as a common pigeon, but longer and of a more slender build. It is of a gray, glossy color, without any special markings except the tail, which ends with a blood red tip. The bird is comparatively helpless, being able to fly but a few feet, and can be caught without difficulty. However, it is unnecessary to say that its poisonous bite causes the native Papuans to let it severely alone. Persons bitten by the creature are seized by maddening pains, which rapidly extend to every part of the body. Loss of sight, convulsions and lockjaw are the other symptoms which follow in rapid succession. The natives say that there is not a case on record of a survival of the bite, there being no antidote, death always ensuing within the short space of two hours.

Oriental Logic.

A man bought three pounds of meat and brought it home to his wife to cook for dinner and then went his way to his place of business in the bazaars. The wife was hungry and ate the meat, says Harper's Magazine.

In the evening the man came home and asked for his dinner.

"There is no meat," said the wife, "for the cat ate it."

"Bring the cat," said the man, "and a pair of scales.

"Weigh the cat," said the man. The cat weighed three pounds.

"If that is the cat," said the man, "where is the meat? And if this is the meat where is the cat?".

Solving a Problem.

In a speech in London the other day the orator told an admirable story of the advice given by an Englishman, a Scotchman and an Irishman respectively to a gentleman whose servant was constantly breaking articles in the household. The Englishman in his blunt, honest way said to the employer, "Oh, get rid of him—dismiss him." The Scotchman's advice was, "Stop the money out of his wages." "But," said the master, "he breaks more than his wages amount to." "Then," said the Irishman, "raise his wages."

The Busy Bee.

Every head of clover consists of about sixty flower tubes, each of which contains an infinitesimal quantity of sugar. Bees will often visit 100 different heads of clover before retiring to the hive, and in order to obtain the sugar necessary for a load must therefore thrust their tongues into about 6,000 different flowers. A bee will take twenty trips a day when the clover patch is convenient to the hive and thus will draw the sugar from 120,000 different flowers in the course of a single day's work.

WAYS OF THE SHAD.

Their Migrations and How They Live at Spawning Time.

Shad fishing is hard and precarious work. The fisherman must count on having his clothes always soaked with icy April water. Often, too, the nets come in empty, and then there is nothing to do but to make another cast and hope for better luck.

A remarkable fact noticed by fishermen is that the identical shad apparently frequent the same streams year after year. To prove this they point out that those taken in Florida waters are smaller than shad caught in the north, while in different streams the fish differ in form, thickness and shape.

After entering the rivers the shad take little if any food previous to spawning, but afterward they will bite at flies or any shining object floating in the water. They have even been known to snap at artificial bait. The toothless mouth of the adult is unfit for feeding upon anything except minute animal matter found in the water. Food is rarely found in their stomachs, the only substance commonly seen there being something closely resembling black mud. From this it is supposed that the shad swim with mouths extended, swallowing the animal life that swarms in the water and on this growing plump and sweet.—Outing.

Character In Umbrellas.

One's character is said to be revealed with infallible accuracy by the way he holds and carries an umbrella. One enthusiast, who has made a study of the public's umbrella manners, has announced that he would want no better guide in choosing his wife than to watch her furl and carry her umbrella.

The man who pokes you in the ribs with his umbrella, for instance, does not alone announce by such an act that he is rude or careless. To the experienced eye he actually lays bare the innermost secrets of his character.

The man or woman who carries an umbrella with the point backward and downward is unassertive. On the other hand, persons who in walking carry their umbrellas by the handles, with the points continually extended or pointing forward, will be found self assertive and energetic. The pedestrian who grabs an umbrella in the middle and goes forging ahead with it in this position is likely to be found alert, but of a selfish, even conceited disposition.

Speed of Dogs.

Greyhounds are the swiftest dogs known, and scientists say that they are the swiftest of all four footed animals. Trained hounds can travel at the rate of eighteen to twenty-three yards a second, which is about the speed attained by a carrier pigeon. These dogs are bred for speed alone. Every other consideration is lost sight of, and only the machinery that makes for motion and endurance is cultivated.

Foxhounds are also very fast travelers, going at the rate of nearly eighteen yards a second. M. Dusolier, the noted French scientist, has pointed out in his statistics on the speed of animals that little fox terriers trotting along with their masters who are driving or riding a bicycle cover mile after mile without a touch of fatigue or distress.

Many animals akin to dogs show even greater endurance. A wolf can travel fifty or sixty miles in a night and be ready for a similar journey the following night.

"Book" Muslin.

A correspondent asks, "Won't you oblige by saying why the word 'book' is applied to muslin?"

The idea that book muslin derives its name from the peculiar manner in which it is made up for sale—namely, folded in yards and each yard doubled in again on itself in such a way that the process of opening it strongly resembles the opening of a book—is ingenious, but incorrect. The word has its origin in Buke, which was erroneously written "Book," the district in India where it was first made. It was not until 1780 that the manufacture of British muslins became a rival to those in India. India muslins are still famous for preserving their whiteness.

Wire Used For Pins.

Perhaps as striking a figure as can be adduced in relation to wire is its consumption in the pinmaking industry. With but few exceptions, all pins are made from brass wire, and the daily production of pins in Great Britain is placed by competent authorities at 50,000,000, of which Birmingham supplies about three-fourths. How this stupendous output is consumed affords matter of no small wonderment, and when the proverbial trifling value of each individual pin is further borne in mind the interest in this branch of the wire industry will be still further augmented.—Chambers' Journal.

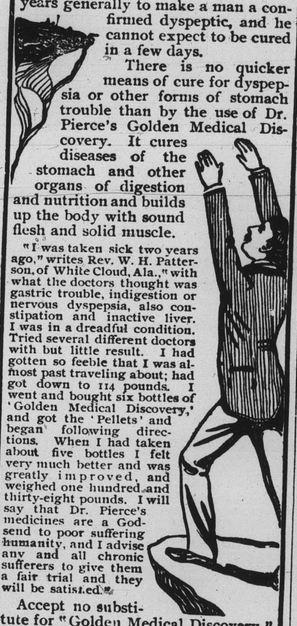
Luther Burbank has returned to his home in Santa Rosa from a two weeks' outing at Lake Tahoe. He is feeling greatly invigorated from his vacation. While absent Mr. Burbank secured numerous specimens of fruiting and flowering plants and their seeds from the high mountain altitudes, including gooseberries, wild currants and huckleberries, gold leaf chestnuts and June berries. There is wild almond in that region from which the Indians derive sustenance, and Mr. Burbank made arrangements for a supply of these, from which he will endeavor to evolve a hardy almond.

To be agreeable in company you must learn to listen well.

JUMPING UP

Is a great deal harder than jumping down. And yet people who have been for years running down in health expect to jump back at once. It takes years generally to make a man a confirmed dyspeptic, and he cannot expect to be cured in a few days.

There is no quicker means of cure for dyspepsia or other forms of stomach trouble than by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition and builds up the body with sound flesh and solid muscle.



"I was taken sick two years ago," writes Rev. W. H. Patterson, of White Cloud, Ala., "with what the doctors thought was gastric trouble, indigestion or nervous dyspepsia, also constipation and inactive liver. I was in a dreadful condition. Tried several different doctors with but little result. I had gotten so feeble that I was almost past traveling about; had got down to 114 pounds. I went and bought six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and got the 'Pellets' and began following directions. When I had taken about five bottles I felt very much better and was greatly improved, and weighed one hundred and thirty-eight pounds. I will say that Dr. Pierce's medicines are a God-send to poor suffering humanity, and I advise any and all chronic sufferers to give them a fair trial and they will be satisfied."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness and sick headache.

A "RATTLED" CITY TRUSTEE.

When Trustees Breitenbach and Poppe shut off the street lights in this town last April and defied the protest of the property owners and taxpayers, they excused their act on the score of "economy."

As a matter of fact it was spite work, pure and simple, and we can now prove it.

At a meeting of the City Trustees held last Monday evening Trustee Breitenbach made a motion that the tax levy for the General Fund be 50 cents on the $100 of valuation, entirely ignoring the City Hall fund. Thanks to Trustees Pinelli, Hotz and Ciucci, his scheme to tax the people of this town higher than ever for general purposes and knock out the City Hall building fund at the same time was nipped in the bud.

The tax for general purposes outside the City Hall building fund as levied by the old Board of City Trustees last year was only 40 cents. This levy among other things gave us a street lighting system at a cost of $600 a year, and many other improvements now arbitrarily denied our taxpayers by Trustees Breitenbach and Poppe.

This being so, why did Trustee Breitenbach wish to increase the tax rate over last year's levy, and that, too, in face of the fact that a new source of revenue has sprung up in this town since the levy of a year ago? We refer to the monthly tax on slot machines, amounting at the present time to $50 per month, or $600 per year—a sum sufficient in itself to pay for a street lighting service.

Being opposed to street lights, a City Hall fund, street improvements, no bridges to be built, the Woman's Club taking care of the Plaza, and an additional yearly revenue of $600 from the slot machines, why in the name of common sense did Trustee Breiteenbach attempt to foist a tax levy of 50 cents for general purposes on the people of this town? What did he intend to do with the money, anyhow? Surely, this man cannot be well!

THE INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

The bosses do not like the independent newspaper. It always stands in their way for making a hoe-down in a political campaign, and stalls them in running politics in the interest of the few as against the many. This reminds us that the INDEX-TRIBUNE has incurred the displeasure of that political failure and would-be local boss, G. W. Reed, the agent of the California Northwestern Railway Company in the town.

Mr. Reed is a Republican. No one will dispute this fact. But why is he a Republican, and why did he seek to run politics in this town and everything else in sight? If we should judge his motive by the manner in which he organized his so called Republican club in this town it can plainly be seen that he essayed to be a Republican boss for all that there was in it.

The INDEX TRIBUNE at the Republican primaries held here last month consigned Mr. Reed and his bogus Republican "club" to political oblivion and that is why he made a scurrilous attack on the editor of this paper in the Santa Rosa Republican four days after his political downfall.

However, anything that Reed may have to say against the INDEX-TRIBUNE and its editor will have little effect on the Republicans of Sonoma county, because he now poses as a deposed boss, while the INDEX-TRIBUNE, thanks to the Republican voters of Sonoma, is on top and always will be.

We would suggest that Mr. Reed take his defeat kindly and endeavor in every way possible to elect the ticket he professes to be doing politics for. Of course in his digruntled state he may knife the Republican ticket. But let him. It will only mean the loss of one vote—his own. But pshaw! why waste good political ammunition on a dead political duck!

The Daily Chronicle and Index-Tribune $8 25 per year.

Those contemplating an Eastern trip will be interested to know that the Rio Grande System it operating via the Scenic Line of the World daily excursion cars through from the Pacific Coast without change to to Denver, Kansas City, Omaha, Chicago, St. Louis, New York, Boston and intermediate points.

might begin, with profit to ourselves, to learn of them.

Company Manners.

The pitfalls of company manners receive a fresh exemplification in the story of a woman who, having heard that it was impolite to press a guest to have more of a dish at table, thereby calling attention to the second serving, so instructed her daughter previous to a dinner she was giving, charging her to act accordingly. At the table she heard her say, "Mr. X., will you have some oysters?" and immediately the mother exclaimed in a horrified tone:

"Why, hasn't Mr. X. been served to oysters yet?"

Whereupon the daughter responded that he had been helped three times, which contributed to the happiness of neither mamma nor Mr. X.

Peculiar Rainstorms.

There is at least one place in the United States where a man may be out in a heavy rain and not get wet even though he has neither mackintosh nor umbrella. In the Colorado desert they have rainstorms during which not a drop of water touches the earth. The rain can be seen falling from the clouds high above the desert, but when the water reaches the stratum of hot, dry air beneath the clouds it is entirely absorbed before falling half the distance to the ground. It is a singular sight to witness a heavy downpour of rain not a drop of which touches the ground. These strange rainstorms occur in regions where the shade temperature often ranges as high as 128 degrees F.

Seeing at a Distance.

To see objects at a distance of 100 miles the observer must be standing at a height of 6,667 feet above the level of the sea. The rule is that the distance in miles at which an object on the earth's surface may be seen is equal to the square root of one and a half times the height of the observer in feet above sea level, allowance being made for the effect of atmospheric refraction. This rule is often of value to ocean travelers in estimating a ship's distance.

ROBBERY AND VANDALISM

Residence of Adam Yenni at El Verano Looted by Thieves

Who Also Destroy Many Valuable Articles of Furniture

Thieves entered the private residence of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Yenni at El Verano last Monday night. The object of the visit of the midnight marauders was not only gain but revenge as well.

After looting the dwelling of every portable article of value the thieves set to work and broke looking glasses, smashed chairs and destroyed many articles of household furniture.

The thieves secured among other things $20 in coin, some jewelry and a quantity of clothing, even taking Mr. Yenni's wedding suit of clothes, a hat, shoes, etc.

No one was in the dwelling when it was entered by the thieves, Mr. and Mrs. Yenni having taken up temporary quarters in a room in the rear of Mr. Yenni's saloon, as an attempt had been made only a few nights before to force an entrance into his business place, and it was with a view to protecting their property there that they decided to sleep in the rear room of the saloon.

Constable Ohm and Deputy Sheriff Ryan were notified of the robbery and vandalism, but so far have made no arrests. It is thought, however, that the guilty parties will be apprehended, as both of the officers are working on very strong clews.

THE CITY TAX LEVY

Trustee Pinelli, With Hotz and Ciucci, Votes to Preserve the Perpetuity of the City Hall

Trustees Breitenbach and Poppe, Opposing Public Improvements, Vote No

At a special meeting of the City Trustees held last Monday evening to fix the tax levy for the year 1902-03, an effort was made by Trustee Breitenbach to knock out the City Hall building fund, having for its purpose the erection of a new City Hall in this place, and to make the tax levy 50 cents on the $100 of valuation for the General fund.

In furtherance of this plan Trustee Breitenbach made a motion that the tax levy be 50 cents for general purposes, entirely ignoring a levy for the proposed new City Hall.

Of course he expected Trustee Pinelli to "stand in" and second his vicious motion, but he reckoned without his host.

No Trustee would second the motion and it died a bornin', and the exponent of "economy" got left all around.

Trustee Hotz then introduced a resolution fixing the levy as follows:

General fund	35
City Hall building fund	35
Total	70

The resolution was then submitted to a vote with the following result:

Ayes — Trustees Pinelli, Ciucci and Hotz.

Noes—Trustees Breitenbach and J. E. Poppe.

The resolution having been passed by the votes of Trustees Pinelli, Ciucci and Hotz, it was declared carried by President J. E. Poppe.

It now looks as though this town was about to be delivered out of the grasp of Trustees Breitenbach and J. E. Poppe, and the taxpayers given some show for their money. We trust it may be so.

Pleasant Surprise Party

Last Friday evening a pleasant surprise party was tendered to Miss Ruth Poppe by several of her girl friends at Weyl's Hall. The young merrymakers met at the hall at 8 o'clock and then adjourned to the home of the young lady on First street. Miss Poppe was taken completely by surprise and amidst much laughter the young people returned to the hall, accompanied by their young hostess. Dancing was indulged in during the evening, and while

The music pealed the sweetest lay,
The dancers whiled the hours away.

At about 11 o'clock the young people assembled in the dining-room, which was very tastefully decorated with ivy and bunting. Here dainty refreshments of cake and ice cream were partaken of, after which all returned to the hall and again tripped the light fantastic until midnight.

After a jolly good time was pronounced by all and the "au revoirs" were spoken, the young people departed for their homes. Those present were: Misses Jewett, Ruth Poppe, Margaret Stevens, Nellie Gordenker, Hazel Gies, Delia Stevens, Amy Engler, Inez Reed, Lelah Reynolds, Mamie Fochetti, Eva Church, Grace McGinsey, Bertha McGinsey, Ethel Hunter; Mesdames A. Keiser, M. Hardy, J. Poppe, and Mrs. Pauli (musician); Frank McGill, George Lowell, Tony Keiser, Jake Shoemaker, George Campbell, Robert Prussia, Jack Lawlor, Ralph Hotz, Arthur Lowell, Campbell McQuiddie, Paul McQuiddie, Paul Sims, Rauol Emparan, Fred Rich, Ed Morris, Russell Morris, Jamie Morris, Dock Engler, Julius Engler, Julius Fochetti, Ray Poppe, Jack Gottenberg and Will Ashe.

Exciting Experience of Mike Turley

Mike Turley, who works in Fred Poulson's shop on Napa street, had an exciting experience last Saturday, and will probably never have a closer call or a more miraculous escape from serious injury. He was shoeing a horse that he has been handling for perhaps a year. The animal is not vicious but is apt to be restless while being shod. The job was almost done, but while clinching the nails in one of the fore feet the horse reared up about ten inches and then suddenly jerked backward. Ordinarily such action can be anticipated and guarded against, but in this case Mr. Turley's foot probaply caught on something, for in a flash he struck the ground, his head striking directly under the horse's hind hoofs, and there he lay with a powerful animal dancing around over him. To complicate matters Mr. Turley's apron was held by the horse's fore feet, which prevented him from rising to his feet, but by a lucky turn he released himself and springing up he managed to complete the shoeing job. Mr Turley's nerves were naturally somewhat unstrung by the close call he had of being kicked to death, but otherwise he was uninjured.

Prof. Herman Schieck Spent Friday and Saturday in San Francisco.

J. W. Gibson was a well kgown Glen Ellen visitor to Santa Rosa this week.

Prof. William Ping was in San Francisco and attended the meeting of the labor unions.

Prof. Ping went up to Santa Rosa Tuesday to see the Native Sons. The whole town did likewise.

George W. Meyer returned to his ranch at Summit Point after a months sojourn in San Francisco. He is looking better for his trip.

The Glen Ellen booth of the coming Catholic Fair will give an entertainment at Mervyn Hall on Saturday, September 20th. All are cordially invited.

St. Francis Church of San Francisco held a picnic in the park here last Saturday. About 500 were present, a very quiet pleasant crowd.

Mr. O'Rourke of the California Northwestern Railway gave a very jolly lunch party at the Mervyn last Saturday. Jimmy has a keen eye for beauty and these young ladies came up to the mark.

Last Thursday a fire started in the dry grass of the park and threatened to result seriously, but Julius Martens and I discovered it and kept it under control until the balance of the town's people came to our aid and put it out, otherwise the whole town might have been laid in ashes. I tell you, we worked like Trojans.

Fred Schieck, who has been traveling the last three months through Germany and Switzerland visiting relatives, has returned safely to this country. While on his way home he stopped at Niagara Falls and, while sightseeing, stepped on a stone and sprained his ankle. He visited his mother and brothers at their ranch above Glen Ellen for a week and returned to Vallejo Saturday to resume his business.

Everybody from Glen Ellen went up to the big Admission Day celebration and parade of the Native Sons and Daughters. Tell you what, I never felt prouder in my life of being a Native Son than on that joyful occasion. We were the cynosure of all eyes, and I flatter myself I received my due share of notice from the pretty girls as we passed along. It was a red letter day for Santa Rosa. Every one was on pleasure bent, dressed in their best clothes, wore smiling faces and threw care to the winds.

L. McDonough, who has rusticated in this place as a summer man for three consecutive seasons, is in town on a vacation. His many friends in this place gave him a hearty handshake and were glad to see him back again.

W. M. Mullen, draughtsman with the Union Iron Works, and Joseph Glisby, Assistant Manager of the Sunset Telephone Company, came up from San Francisco last Saturday night and took in the social hop in this place.

The social hop at the Bellevue Hotel Saturday evening was a grand success. Over fifty couple were present. The music was furnished by Mrs. A. Haraszthy, pianist, and Jas. La Torres, violinist. Thomas Mullen managed the floor to the satisfaction of everybody present.

The much-talked of boxing bout between the El Verano boxer and the "Sonoma Cyclone" is still confined to hot air. The many sports in this little burg have about arrived at the conclusion that the Sonoma boxer has got an attack of cold feet. It is rumored that either a Schellville scrapper or Santa Rosa bruiser will take his place in the proposed bout.

COURAGE OF ANIMALS.

The Bravery Displayed by Some of Them When Necessary.

We often read how animals usually die a tragic death, but little is said of the mute suffering and wonderful fortitude which are so frequently displayed. With all the civilization of centuries behind us, this power of suffering acute physical pain without flinching or muttering is still considered one of our highest attributes.

One winter evening when the snow crackled under foot and the edges of the ponds and brooks showed a trace of ice I saw here and there the signs of traps which had been set for stray prowlers. Some were placed along paths which were used by coons and foxes under the overhanging cliffs. Others were cleverly hidden in the edge of the water for muskrats and mink.

Next morning as I passed along one of the paths I saw how a captured animal had shown his bravery, for in a trap in the water were a foot and part of a leg of a large muskrat. What courage it must have taken to deliberately gnaw off his foot and leg!

At first I thought that perhaps the trap had broken the bone and the animal had simply cut the flesh and tendons away, but on close inspection I saw that the bone had not been broken. I could shut my eyes and almost see the frightened little animal work and pull at the steel chain as the cool stars winked and blinked.

All night long probably he had worked about the place where the short chain was fastened, but it held fast. As the gray of the day showed faint in the east he knew he must do something desperate, so he went to work on his own flesh and bone. Can one think of anything more courageous than slowly cutting through one's own flesh with liberty the reward for the pain? Then, when the hard bone is reached and the animal is weak and spent with suffering, think what courage it must have taken for the final work!—Turf, Field and Farm.

A Night In a Haunted Room.

A contemporary tells a very amusing story of a well known man about town who was recently spending a week end in the country. The house being full, he was offered the "haunted room," and about midnight he retired to rest among the ghosts quite contentedly. But at breakfast next morning he was fain to confess that the spirits had shamefully misused him by removing all the bedclothes and leaving him uncovered at 2 a. m. But, most peculiar of all, the blankets had really vanished into thin air. Presently the son-in-law of the house put in an appearance and in reply to the question how he had slept made answer: "Very well, only it was so cold that, knowing you never put any one in the haunted room, I braved the ghosts in the small hours and trotted in there to gather up every blanket I could find. Truth to say, I hurried away, for I had no matches with me and could have sworn there was some one breathing in the room."

Contradictions.

We live amid contradictions. Our old men call each other boys and our youths are old fellows. Our girls like to be manly, and our men are often old women. A young lady likes to be called a kitten, but objects to being called a cat. A young man yearns to be reputed a gay dog, but dislikes being called a puppy. In the afternoon we go to see a morning performance at the theater, and at early morn we read our evening newspapers. Stilton cheese is nearly all made on the continent, French chalk is got here in America, Hungarian bands are comprised of English musicians, and many British flags are made in Germany. —Selected.

The Retreat.

The "fire devouring" colonel had been telling his small nephews terrible stories of battle and blood, and they had listened, spellbound, for an hour. Then said the youngest:

"I s'pose, uncle, that you never ran away from anything, did you?"

The old man thought a great deal before he answered slowly:

"Ben, if you live long enough you'll find out that it's never well to run away from danger, no matter what; but you will probably meet with occasions when you'll see what a grand thing it is to right about face and charge in the opposite direction as fast as you can go."

A Misapprehension.

The practice of naming race horses after prominent personages sometimes leads to misapprehension. In one of the clubs the other day a message came over the tape announcing the death of Lord ——. Much sympathy was expressed for the noble family in their suppositious bereavement, and much laughter was indulged in when it was found that Lord —— was a horse. —London Tit-Bits.

DANIEL WEBSTER.

The Country Heart of a Great Statesman

Daniel Webster was one of the greatest lawyers America ever produced. He was also one of its greatest statesman, yet listen to this plea, which he made to Congress for the farm:

"I am not anxious to accelerate the approach of that period when the great mass of American labor shall not find its employment in the field; when the young men of the country shall be obliged to shut their eyes upon external nature, upon the heavens and the earth, and immerse themselves in close and unwholesome workshops; when they shall be obliged to shut their ears to the bleating of their own flocks upon the hills, and to the voice of the lark that cheers them at the plow."

Webster saw, as with the eye of prophecy, the evil effects which the exodus of farm boys to the city would have on the country at large, as well as on the character of the people.

A Certain Cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says F. L. Taylor of New Albany, Bradford county, Pa. "I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea, and was about to give up the trip, when Editor Ward of the Laceyville Messenger suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route. I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effect. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of the same remedy and this time one dose cured me." Sold by F. Duhring.

PEOPLE OF ODD DELUSIONS.

Jerusalem Is a Great Place For Cranks With Religious Fads.

Jerusalem is a great place for cranks, particularly those of religious tendencies. People who have visions and possess the gift of prophecy, who have discovered new ways of salvation and methods by which they may live without sin, seem to flock here as the moths seek the light. Some come in clubs and associations, others as individuals. Many of them are actually insane and possessed of peculiar delusions.

There used to be an old sailor who went around through the principal streets day after day carrying a heavy cross. He was doing penance for some great sin he had committed, and it would be a satisfaction to know whether he obtained absolution before he died. Then there was a man who bought a lamb every morning and sacrificed it, giving the skin and the meat to the poor. His place of sacrifice was on a rock outside the walls, and a crowd was there awaiting him when he came with his offering upon his back.

There is an old woman in Jerusalem now—and she is said to be rich, for she lives in a comfortable house and seems to have plenty of money—who considers it her mission to relieve the hunger and the distress of all the Ishmaelitish dogs. She goes out daily with baskets of bread and meat to feed them, and if she can catch one of the mongrel curs with which the streets are haunted she takes him home, washes him, puts ointment upon his sores, soaks him with carbolic acid and other disinfectants and then turns him loose. But she never gets the same dog twice. Although they like the food she brings them, they do not relish the other attentions.

The Moslems, like the North American Indians, consider a lunatic sacred, and any man with marked eccentricities is absolutely safe, safer than if he had an escort of the sultan's bodyguard.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Famous Women's Small Families.

Among famous women who were mothers of small families comes Elizabeth Barrett Browning, who had only one son. Mrs. Somerville, the mathematician, had two daughters and one son only, though she was twice married. Mme. George Sand had two children, a son and a daughter; so had Lady Mary Montagu, whose "Letters" are so admired in literature, and Mme. de Sevigne, writer of equally famous "Letters" in French. Mme. de Stael had three children in her early married life. When forty-eight years old, she married a second time and then had another son. George Eliot (Mrs. Cross) was childless, and so was Mrs. Craig, the author of "John Halifax." Mrs. Barbauld, whose prose and poetry were both much admired in the eighteenth century, had no children, and the same was the case with her equally praised contemporary, Mrs. Opie.

Insuring Friendship.

Although Mulcahy and Mulhooly were known to be great friends, they were one day observed to pass each other in the street without a greeting.

"Why, Mulcahy," a friend asked in astonishment, "have you and Mulhooly quarreled?"

"That we have not," said Mr. Mulcahy, with earnestness.

"There seemed to be a coolness between you when you passed just now."

"That's the insurance of our friendship."

"I don't understand."

"Whoy, thin, it's this way: Mulhooly and I are that devoted to wan another that we can't bear the idea of a quarrel, an' as we are both moighty quick tempered we've resolved not to shpake to wan another at all, for fear we dissolve the friendship!"

He Had Nothing.

A lawyer living not far from Philadelphia got his pecuniary affairs into such an awful tangle that there was a scandal, especially when some persistent creditors found there was nothing to garnishee or seize upon. A revival was in progress in the church of which he was a member, and one of the congregation arose and inquired:

"Has Lawyer —— got religion?"

"No, I think not," spoke up another lawyer of the congregation—"that is, unless it's in his wife's name."—Philadelphia Times.

Perfect Logic of a Lunatic.

A visitor to an asylum saw a man capering along the hall astride of a stick. "Ah, ha!" said the visitor, wishing to be pleasant. "I see you are having a fine ride on your horse." "This isn't a horse," answered the lunatic contemptuously. "Not a horse? What is it, then?" "It's a hobby," was the reply. "If it was a horse, I could get off."—London Chronicle.
